

Alain Untersee has a engineering degree in electronics from the National Electronics Engineering School in Grenoble (France). After several years spent in large French groups, he co-founded in 1988 the ITIS Company (Innovation in Telecommunications, Image, and Sound) where he had the position of Sales Director. He developed the worldwide sales of professional equipment for Terrestrial Digital TV (DVB-T) and Digital Radio (DAB) networks. He joined TeamCast in 2007 where he is taking care of the involvement of TeamCast in collaborative research projects at the French and international levels (preparation of proposals, management of projects).